Dear Parents,

I am acutely aware that sometimes as parents and carers you will feel you have a genuine reason to be upset with school over an issue relating to your child.

As the Head Teacher of Wroxton I have maintained an open door policy for you to come and talk to me about concerns and issues. Sometimes we agree and on the rare occasion we do not. What we have prided ourselves on is that there is usually some common ground where we can sometimes agree to disagree.

I have become aware today of some untrue comments on Facebook. The sad part about this is that others then make comments that actually enflame the situation rather than make it better.

If you have a concern please do not make it a public affair. This is unfair to your child first and foremost, and secondly it is unfair to us as a school. If it were not for some parents who believe the way forward is to approach us we would remain unaware.

I thank the very many of you that did not comment, like, dislike the post and have remained neutral in your positions due to being unaware of the full facts.

I certainly care about every child that walks in the door at Wroxton and most people will say that the child always comes first for me and they do.

If you feel you have spoken to us and you have not been heard then there is a formal complaints procedure for you to follow rather than public hanging with no trial.

Yours sincerely

April Guinness
Head Teacher
